

INTRODUCTION

As with previous installments in the King of Glory series, this manual will serve as a guide to the game's mechanics and storylines. It is intended to help players understand the game's mechanics and storylines, as well as provide tips and strategies for success. This manual is designed to be a comprehensive resource for all levels of players, from beginners to experienced veterans.

The Gameplay Manual

REVIEWER'S BRIEF

This review is based on the game's first few hours of play. The game's story is set in a world where the king has been overthrown by a group of rebels. The rebels have taken control of the kingdom and are trying to establish a new government. The king's son, Prince Edward, is the main character in the game. He is a young man who is determined to restore his father's rule. The game's mechanics are simple and easy to learn. The controls are intuitive and the graphics are clear and vibrant. The game's story is engaging and the characters are well-developed. The game's pacing is good and the challenges are appropriately difficult. Overall, this is a solid game that is worth playing.

INTRODUCTION

What is an adventure game? Think of it as something like a novel - except that you are the lead character. The computer presents you with part of the story, then gives you the opportunity to decide what you want to do next. You'll know when that moment has come because you'll see the "prompt" appear on the screen. It looks like this:

When you see the prompt, it's time to tell the computer what you want to do next. You do this by typing plain English. Corruption understands an awful lot, but not everything; the best way to make your instructions clear is to imagine that they are preceded by the "invisible" phrase "Now I want to...", followed by whatever it is you want to do. After you've "made your move", press the RETURN or ENTER key on your computer; Corruption will then evaluate your instructions and proceed accordingly.

Your aim is to win the game. What that involves, and how best to go about it, is up to you to discover as you play. All we're going to say right now is that you'll need all your wits and determination.

GAME COMMANDS

You can get a long way with simple, two-word commands like GET BRIEFCASE. (The game will respond with something like "You have now got the briefcase."). But to do more complex things, you'll need more complex commands. Let's go through some of these. Imagine we're playing an espionage adventure (and, by the way, there are no clues to Corruption here, so don't get your hopes up...) Perhaps you decide you want to >GO INTO MR. HARGREAVES' OFFICE.

You can move around the game by GOing to a particular place or in a particular direction. The directions you can use are NORTH, SOUTH, EAST and WEST, and possibly NORTHEAST, SOUTHEAST, SOUTHWEST, NORTHWEST, UP, DOWN, IN and OUT. (Of course, not all of these directions are available at every point in the game; there may just be one way into and out of Mr. Hargreaves' office, for example.)

Thus the simplest way to move about the game is to say, for instance, GO NORTH, or just NORTH or N for short. (See the section on abbreviations for more details of short commands.) Mr. Hargeaves' office is in darkness, so you decide to >SWITCH ON MY TORCH.

Corruption recognizes the possessive pronouns, MY, HIS and HER. These are useful to make it clear which item you're referring to; for example, if Mr Hargreaves' secretary turns up unexpectedly, you might

>PUT THE POISON PILL INTO HER COFFEE CUP.

You don't want to accidentally poison your own coffee! Having dealt with the secretary, it's time to go about some serious espionage.

>OPEN THE DESK'S TOP DRAWER WITH THE MASTER KEY AND LOOK INSIDE IT.

This is a combination of two simpler commands: OPEN THE DESK'S TOP DRAWER WITH THE MASTER KEY and LOOK INSIDE IT. Corruption understands multiple commands; you can string them together with AND, a comma, THEN or just a full stop. For example, PICK UP THE CODE BOOK AND READ IT or GET THE BOOK THEN READ IT or just GET BOOK. READ IT do precisely the same thing. But back to Hargreaves' dastardly top drawer...

>GET THE TOP SECRET FOLDER AND THE SLIP OF PAPER FROM IT.

You can save time (game and real) by doing things more efficiently. For instance the commands GET MY GUN and GET THE TRUTH DRUG then GET THE CAMERA take three moves, whereas the same operation can be performed in just one turn with GET THE DRUG, CAMERA AND MY GUN. In Corruption, each turn is one minute of game time, so it's wise not to waste time when you're in a hurry. Well... we've got the slip of paper. What now?

>READ THE SLIP OF PAPER

In Corruption, you will need to prove to the game that you have found out an important fact, by actually finding it out in each game. Suppose, for example, that the combination of the safe is written on the slip of paper. Corruption will only acknowledge that you know the combination if you READ THE SLIP OF PAPER. The fact that you might have found out the combination whilst playing the game on a previous occasion is immaterial. Imagine that each time you restart a new game, in your role in the plot you know nothing.

>OPEN THE FOLDER AND READ EVERYTHING THAT IS IN IT.

Most of the time, objects that contain things, such as folders, desk drawers and files, have to be open before you can refer to things inside them. In the above example, the game will not automatically open the file to let you read the contents.(If it did, you would be getting a free move!) Corruption recognizes the collective terms ALL or EVERYTHING and deals with them according to what it thinks you are trying to do. If you walk into a room you will be told about the things which are lying about, easily visible. Tell the game to GET ALL at that point will just get those things. If you have dropped something, that, too, will be lying around, so GET ALL will get that, as well. But there may be things hidden in cupboards. To get those, you first have to OPEN THE CUPBOARD then GET ALL FROM THE CUPBOARD. It can get complicated; Corruption will understand sentences like PUT EVERYTHING IN THE ENVELOPE IN THE BRIEFCASE IN THE CABINET, but you might find it clearer to say PUT THE CONTENTS OF THE ENVELOPE IN THE BRIEFCASE INTO THE CABINET. Having done that, you might want to

>REMOVE THE BLUEPRINTS FROM IT AND PUT THEM ON THE DESK.

When it is necessary to have long commands it is convenient to use pronouns whenever possible; that is, IT, THEM, HIM and HER. This can save you having to type long-winded sentences. Remember, though, IT may not always be what you expect. The usual rule is that the pronouns refer to the item or items involved in your previous command, not the last item mentioned by the game. There are some circumstances, though, where events in the game may affect the pronouns. For example, an important character walking into the room will be made the subject of the pronoun HIM or HER.

>GET THE FAKE BLUEPRINTS FROM MY JACKET POCKET AND PUT THEM INTO THE FOLDER.

Since you can move things around the game, you may end up with several things of the same name in the same place. In the example above there are now blueprints on the desk and some more blueprints which you took from your jacket pocket. If you just typed LOOK AT THE BLUEPRINTS the game would be unsure which set of blueprints you were talking about, and so it would ask you "Which ones, the real blueprints or the fake blueprints?", to which you can respond THE REAL BLUE-PRINTS, or THE REAL ONES, or just REAL. Maybe you had not realized there were two of a kind and may want to see both; then respond with BOTH. If you don't care, just type ANY.

>GET THE REAL BLUEPRINTS FROM THE DESK.

This is being extra-sure! You could have got away with saying GET THE REAL BLUEPRINTS or GET THE BLUEPRINTS FROM THE DESK; in either case, it was clear precisely which set you meant.

>LOOK BEHIND THE COMPANY PICTURE.

Sometimes objects are not evident until you search for them.

>USE THE COMBINATION ON THE SLIP OF PAPER TO OPEN THE COMPANY SAFE.

USE is a way of phrasing a command the other way around. You can USE something to do something. For example, USE THE MASTER KEY TO OPEN THE DESK DRAWER is the same as OPEN THE DESK DRAWER WITH THE MASTER KEY.

>PUT ALL FROM THE SAFE EXCEPT THE LEDGERS AND THE RECEIPTS INTO MY BRIEFCASE.

If you are dealing with a large number of objects, it's often easier to say what you don't want, rather than typing a whole list of items that you do want. Suppose the safe contained many objects you want, like gold, silver, jewellery, money and blackmail letters, but also contained valueless ledgers and receipts. Typing GET ALL FROM THE SAFE EXCEPT THE LEDGERS AND RECEIPTS is handier than GET THE GOLD, SILVER, JEWELLERY, MONEY AND THE BLACKMAIL LETTERS THAT ARE IN THE SAFE.

TALKING TO PEOPLE

In Corruption you have to pass on information to others, as well as collect it yourself. Corruption has been designed around two major channels of communication: ASK and TELL. You'll need to do both a lot, but there's little point in making efforts to communicate with characters in other ways. If you want to get information from a character, "ASK [someone] ABOUT [something]" - for example,

>ASK THE MI5 MAN ABOUT THE POLISH SPY.

The things you ASK about do not have to be solid objects ,eg. you can ASK THE SPY ABOUT ESPIONAGE .

The other channel for communication is TELL. This is more subtle than ASK, since although it takes the same form it left up to the game to decide precisely what information you reveal. For example, READ THE SLIP OF PAPER finds out the combination to the safe; so if you:

>TELL MI5 MAN ABOUT THE SLIP OF PAPER.

The game will work out what you know about the slip of paper and pass it on. In this case the game may respond: "You tell the MI5 man that the safe combination is four left, three right and six left."

You might find out numerous pieces of information about a particular object; in this case, each time you TELL about that object, the game divulges another piece of information until you've told all you know. It is important that you really do know about the object, since otherwise the game is not convinced and refuses to say anything.

In the above, if you had not read the slip of paper but had still said TELL THE MI5 MAN ABOUT THE SLIP OF PAPER, the game replies: "But you don't know anything about the slip of paper." (Of course you may know that it exists and was in Mr. Hargreaves' desk drawer, but the game does not consider that significant enough to interest anyone else in the story.)

OTHER COMMANDS

Corruption is based on information. Where other adventure games have puzzles involving the manipulation of objects, Corruption instead has a complicated web of who-knows-what and who-goes-where, -when and -how. You score points for the information you manage to find.

Waiting

The Corruption clock displays the current time in the top right hand corner of the screen. This clock advances one minute for each game turn, and in that time each of the many characters in the story have a turn to go about their business. You can use the command WAIT UNTIL to speed the progress of the plot. The syntax is "Wait until [time]" - for example, WAIT UNTIL 2:30. (A time of day is expressed as hour:minute, on a 12-hour clock.) As you wait, the clock in the top corner advances rapidly to the desired time. Nearby events can sometimes interrupt a WAIT command, so if some special event happens, Corruption lets you change your mind and do something else, or carry on waiting. (Note that you can only WAIT for 15 or 30 minutes, unless you are unusually patient...)

Following People

Using the FOLLOW command, you can follow characters in Corruption providing you are physically able to move in the right directions. When following someone, the prompt changes from the normal '>' prompt to '(following [name])>', where [name] is the person you are following. While following people, each turn takes a full move, even if the character you are following is stationary. This is because you are effectively waiting for them. If you press the return key while the follow prompt is displayed, the game will advance one minute and you will move one step after the person you are tailing. Any other command terminates the follow mode in favour of your new instruction - but beware; you might lose sight of the person you are following.

SPECIAL COMMANDS

To make things easier, a number of special single word commands exist to alleviate typing.

INVENTORY This command gives you a list of objects that you are carrying. It also describes any clothes you are wearing.

AGAIN Sometimes an action needs to be repeated, AGAIN recalls the previous command typed. This is especially useful to continue waiting after an interruption.

SCORE shows you how well you are doing. In Corruption the score is based on how much you have found out. You do not necessarily need a full score to win the game.

VERBOSE/BRIEF/NORMAL These three commands alter the amount of descriptive text displayed when moving from location to location.

In VERBOSE mode the room description is always displayed even if you have been through the room before. (This mode is recommended for beginners).

BRIEF, however, is the opposite; you only get the name of the room - no description. The only way to force a description is by typing LOOK on its own.

NORMAL, is the default, displaying the room description the first time you enter a room, but not for subsequent visits.

QUIT When you wish to stop playing, QUIT finishes your game. You are given a choice of whether to restart a fresh game or to exit the program. Restart forgets the game you are currently playing and starts again.

ABBREVIATIONS

Some words are used frequently enough to justify a single or double letter abbreviation:

ADVICE FOR BEGINNERS

If you have never played an adventure game before, please remember that there are limitations in what you can say and do. If you are having difficulty trying to express to the machine what you want to do, try saying it another way - the game possesses a large but nevertheless limited vocabulary. Observe the following helpful tips:

1. Get to know your way about the game. You will not be able to visit all the locations at first; some may be discovered later, as the plot unfolds. Even if you have a map in the packaging, draw up a more detailed one marking the locations of important items for future reference
2. Try to EXAMINE as much as possible. Some clues are more subtle than others.
3. Before playing, make sure you have a formatted blank disk handy to save games on. Save the game frequently, especially if you wish to try out something reckless. Saving the game does not cost a move, so in places where timing may be essential save a copy of the game at the start of the problem, just in case you make a mess of it.

4.Try to find out what people are up to in the game; you can FOLLOW them, or just hang around to see what they do. Try ASK-ing them about each other to find out what their point of view is.If they do something unusual or interesting, make a note of the time and location so that you will be able to catch them again.

5.Read the packaging very carefully as it contains some vital clues.

Good Luck!

Good Day

Cypheric Hints

How to use this section

The Cypheric Hint section lets you get hints for Corruption without seeing the answers to questions you do not wish to know.

If you can't solve a puzzle, or if you just do not know what to do next, scan the list of questions until you find one which resembles your problem. Then, at the prompt, type:

>HINT

The computer will respond with:

Please enter your hint:

At this point you type in the letters between '<' and '>'. The computer will then decode your hint. If you have not typed in the correct letters the computer will respond:

Sorry, please try that one again.

A "+" sign after the answer means there's more to come. Please type in the next hint.

The first hint is usually a gentle nudge in the right direction. The last hint may be the complete solution to your problem.

The Gamblers' Casino Companion

A Guide to Popular Card Games of Chance & Skill

Trente et Quarante

Simple enough, like all casino classics - but fortunes can be lost as well as made. The rules are simple. Cards are dealt in two rows, red and black. If the first card dealt is black, the dealer continues dealing cards to the black row until its total value is equal to or greater than thirty-one. Face cards count ten points, aces count one. She then deals the red row in the same way. (If the first card was red, then the red row would be dealt first.) The winning row is the one whose total is closest to thirty-one. If both rows are the same, the bank takes all bets.

You bet on the row you think will win. You can bet on RED or BLACK, or on COULEUR (where you bet on the row which is the same colour as the first card) or INVERSE (the row of the opposite colour to the first card).

The normal way to place a bet is to say

>BET (X POUNDS or CHIPS) ON (RED/BLACK/COULEUR /INVERSE).

Winning bets pay evens (i.e., if you win, you get your stake back, plus an equal amount.)

Example: You

>BET 10 POUNDS ON INVERSE.

The first card dealt is the six of Clubs (a BLACK card); this means that you are betting on the RED ROW. Dealer deals 4, 9, Ace, King and 8. Total for the BLACK row is 38. She then deals Queen, 9, Ace, 4, 8 to the RED ROW, giving it a total of 32. The RED ROW is closest to 31, therefore you win £10 plus your original stake of £10 making a total of £20.

Blackjack

This is named after the "Black Jack" - the combination of a face card (worth ten) and an ace (worth eleven - or, under certain circumstances, worth one). You are gambling on whether you can get nearer to a total hand value of twenty one - without exceeding it - than the Bank (that is to say, the dealer). The dealer gives you your first card. You place your bet. The syntax is:

>BET (X POUNDS or X CHIPS).

You then get a second card. This is the minimum hand with which you can play. If you are happy with this hand, you can now "Stick" - in other words, decline any further cards. You do this by typing NO or N or STICK or S when the croupier asks if you want another card. The croupier at this point, or whenever you do "stick", will show her hand. If your two cards add up to less than 21, you should now consider whether "twisting" - asking for another card - is likely to bring your total to more than 21. If you have, for example, two tens, or a ten and a King, then drawing another card is likely to push you over the limit, in which case you have "bust". (Note that, in these circumstances, you are allowed to count an Ace as equal to one rather than eleven. You needn't worry about this as the computer calculates the best value for your hand if you have an ace.)

If, on the other hand, you want another card, type YES or Y or TWIST or T.

The game ends when you stick or bust, or when the croupier busts. You win if you beat her, or if you are still in the game when she busts. She wins all draws.

If you win with a Black Jack hand, the payout is 3 to 2 - that is, £5 for every £2 you bet (because you get your original stake back, too). Everything else pays evens.

N.B. Some Casinos recognize another form of winning hand, where the Player holds five cards and his total still remains under twenty-one, called a 'five-card trick'. Pay attention to the house rules of your casino.

Baccarat

Everyone gets a chance to be a star in Baccarat, because it's played by one of the players at the table, against the "Bank", or dealer. House rules vary as to who can be the Player; in Casinos populated by dedicated gamesters, the casual visitor has little or no chance of becoming Player, so might as well simply take his place with the rest of the table.

The Player takes the "shoe", which holds the cards. The betting is on whether the Player or the Bank will win, so the first thing to do is

>BET (X POUNDS or X CHIPS) ON (BANK or PLAYER)

Both Bank and Player are dealt two cards from the shoe, face up. They add up the values of their cards (aces count as one, face cards count as ten), then knock off the first digit if the total is ten or more. For example, if the Player is dealt a 5 and a 4, his hand value is 9; if dealt a 7 and a 3, the hand value is zero; and if dealt a Queen and an 8, the total value is 18 so knock off the '1' giving a hand value of eight.

This particular hand value, called a "natural", is an immediate winner. So is a hand value of nine. If there is a draw, neither the Player nor the Bank wins; the casino takes all the bets on the table.

If neither player has a natural and there is not a draw, play now continues. The rules are strict. If the Player's hand was 5 or less, he has to draw another card (let's call this one "C") and recalculates his total. If, alternatively, his hand totalled 6 or 7, he must stand - that is, he isn't allowed any more cards.

If the Player had to stand, the Bank then follows the same rules; in other words, if she has 5 or less, she draws another card, if she has 6 or 7 she stands.

If, on the other hand, the Player drew another card - the one we called "C", remember - the Bank follows a different set of rules:

- (1) If the Bank's hand is seven, she stands.
- (2) If the Bank's hand is two or less, she draws another card.
- (3) If the Bank's hand is three to six inclusive, then what she does depends on the value of the Player's card "C", as follows:
 - (a) Bank's hand = 3; stand if $C=8$, else draw.
 - (b) Bank's hand = 4; stand if $C = 1,8,9$ or 10 ; else draw
 - (c) Bank's hand = 5; stand if $C = 1,2,3,8,9$ or 10 ; else draw
 - (d) Bank's hand = 6; stand if $C = 1,2,3,4,5,8,9$ or 10 ; else draw

At the end of this process, the hand values are recalculates, and the highest one wins. The casino takes all bets if there is a draw - that is, neither Player nor Bank wins. If you bet on Bank and it wins, the Casino takes five per cent of your winnings (calculated to the nearest pound) as commission.

A winning Baccarat hand pays evens, like Trente et Quarante.

General Notes

The house limit in the City's casinos is usually £100,000

Most chips are worth £10; but you can receive smaller-value chips in your winnings. If you want to use these to bet with, you will have to calculate the value and: BET X POUNDS, but watch out- there may be a minimum bet.

The Time Off InfoFax Guide to Business Entertaining

Part 4: The City of London

A L'ECU D'ILFORD

21 Dog Street EC1

The "Ilf", as it's popularly known by its devotees, brings a breath of East London to the high-pressure world of the City. Patronized heavily by aggressive Eurobond dealers from Romford, the "Ilf" specialises in such local delicacies as Pie 'n' Eels, Eels 'n' Mash, Pie, Mash 'n' Eels and, for the connoisseur, Mash, Mash, Eels 'n' Pie. About £2.79 for two, including tea (twice).

AREOPAGITICA

125 Bell Alley, EC4

A tiny, charming restaurant in the diamond district of London, Areopagitica specialises in genuine 16th Century English food. It's always crammed with prosperous-looking diamond dealers tucking into dishes like Lamb Stuffed With Fresh Crab, Baked Oyster Pudding and Lobster Tart. Drink Sack or Porter with your meal for that authentic taste. About £40 for two.

BIG BANG BURGER BAR

32 Back Street EC2

The Big Bang was named, not after the deregulation of the financial industry in 1986, but after a fictional restaurant in The Restaurant at the End of the Universe which was to be found at the very moment of creation. Some may say the hamburgers here are prehistoric and the atmosphere is certainly heavy on methane, but a loyal clientele of currency dealers meet here every lunchtime to drink, shout and boast. If conspicuous consumption is your scene, this is your place. £15 for two.

CHEZ DEMETRIOU

99a Topsider Villas SE18

Though this restaurant is way beyond the City boundaries - in deeply unfashionable Woolwich, in fact - it is considered one of the finest in London, and patronized by City grandes. Demetriou himself, a large and invariably foul-tempered Cypriot, presides over a rigid and inflexible regime. Though the food is undeniably good, Demetriou has been known to beat customers to a pulp for requesting salt or pepper, and appears to believe that the word "host" is derived from the word "hostility". If you can face his contempt, expect to pay around £120 for two, including wine (which he chooses for you).

ETON MESS

1 Wilmshurst Street EC2

Something novel here: based on the popular restaurants with waitresses dressed in schoolgirl uniforms serving school food, the Mess however has waiters dressed as schoolboys. The food is merely passable but attracts a loyal and distinct following of female personnel managers and plump elderly gentlemen in the shipping business. If you don't eat your pudding - the famous strawberry "Eton Mess" is the best - the Head Waiter canes you mercilessly in front of the diners. The personnel managers always eat their pudding. The elderly gentlemen hardly ever do. £25 a head, or 10,000 lines if you left your wallet at home.

FLANAGAN'S BISTRO

27 Jamaica Wharf EC1

It's hard to say whether Flanagan or Demetriou is the nastiest restaurateur in London; certainly they have been fighting for the title tooth, claw and ladle for the last fifteen years. So far, Demetriou is rudest, but Flanagan is less predictable and his behaviour is more gross. His restaurant, however, is excellent: large, crowded and noisy (even when the live pianist takes a break) it has a menu to satisfy all tastes. If you feel a pain in the ankles while dining, don't worry: Flanagan, after a few magnums of champagne, likes to crawl around the floor and bite the clientele. £60 for two.

I16 Baron Steps, EC4

The names of London's Oriental restaurants have been getting shorter and shorter; I must be the shortest of all. The proprietor/chef says it means (roughly translated) "May the fragrant dragonfly alight upon the electric shadows of your golden dreams." Be that as it may, the food is exquisite, with a special sushi featuring wafer-thin slices of raw Korean water-snake, marinated for three days in beetle vinegar, as the house speciality. The Teppanyaki is superb, too. Drink sake with your meal, although the Japanese bankers drink huge quantities of whisky or Coca-Cola (which, in Chinese, apparently means "Bite the wax tadpole"). Not cheap; allow £55-65 for two with sake; cheaper if you bite the wax tadpole; more if you drink "Scottish Wine".

LA POCHE DU JARDINIER

77 Ormskirk Square EC2

The only restaurant in what is otherwise a gastronomic desert in a square entirely occupied by seemingly-insolvent manufacturers of surgical corsets, cork-importers, pearl-re-stringers and budgerigar accessories, the Jardiniere nevertheless manages a thriving lunchtime business by attracting bibulous ne'er-do-wells from the French Munitions Agency around the corner. These gentlemen, with their bulging pockets, can be seen snarfing up the Tripes à la Mode du Caen and the Raie au Beurre Noir with evident enjoyment, and we have to agree that the food is rather good. The service, on the other hand, is appalling, the proprietor a psychopath, and the chef apparently would rather be a rock singer, to judge from the noises issuing from the kitchen. Worth a visit, though, at £30 for two.

LE MONACO

22 London Road EC1

A classic French restaurant which, years ago, enjoyed a rather shady reputation on account of its private rooms (which, alas, no longer exist). The extravagantly Gallic maître d'hôtel could be seen either as a liability of the restaurant's greatest asset, but he certainly knows how to make his loyal customers feel both special and comfortable, a rare art these days. The atmosphere is intimate and romantic rather than strictly businesslike, but Le Monaco nevertheless attracts its fair share of successful stockbrokers and financial types. Food is reliable if unimaginative, but Le Monaco has a splendid butcher who cuts meat in the French style, so the dishes like Chateaubriand are authentic, as well as huge - a vegetarian's nightmare, in fact. Allow around £40 for two, with wine from the excellent and reasonably-priced cellars.

McGILLICUDDIE'S

232 Chimney Court, EC3

McGillicuddie's is run by a Glaswegian ex-wrestler who still gives the impression that he could deal with any trouble-makers. Not that there are any in this functional, sawdust-and-scrubbed-oak restaurant specialising in Scottish traditional food. The menu is extensive but beware of the small, ginger-haired waiter, who is inclined to explain in detail the composition of the food. Few people could happily eat a Haggis knowing what it was, though if you retain your innocence, it's delicious, especially washed down with a ball or two of Monster's Choice, the famous Inverness whisky. McGillicuddie's is the only restaurant we know which does High Tea, a vast and ruminative feast lasting from 4:00 pm until bedtime. Around £25 for two.

MANNY'S DINER

18 Venice Lane EC3

Manny's is a London institution, a kosher restaurant with the best salt beef in town. The pastrami is incredible, the gefilte fish just like mother used to try to make but couldn't, and the latkes need a health warning, they're so addictive. No drinks licence, so bring your own. Manny's operates an interesting system: the waiters buy the food from the kitchen and resell it to you, taking the profit themselves. So? So negotiate. What have you got to lose? Would we lie? Around £20 for two. A bargain. You should live so long.

Policy without principles

Politicians rarely mention the word 'ideals' in their speeches or interviews. They prefer to talk about 'values' instead. This is a good thing because ideals will be hard to pin down, but values are easier to understand and easier to live by. In fact, it's not surprising that politicians like Donald Trump and Jeremy Corbyn have both been described as 'values-based' leaders.

That's not to say that values are always good. Some values can be problematic. For example, the 'right' of freedom of speech can become a barrier to progress when it's used to defend hate speech or sexism.

But other political values like democracy, equality, and justice are useful. A leader who wants to make a difference must be willing to stand up for these values. It's important to remember that values are not just words; they're actions.

For example, if a politician claims to support democracy, they must work to ensure that everyone has a voice in the political process. If they claim to support equality, they must work to end discrimination based on gender, race, or sexual orientation. And if they claim to support justice, they must work to make sure that everyone is treated fairly under the law.

Conclusion

Values are important.
